Service Description

Summary

Valto's Azure Migration service helps organisations migrate workloads to Microsoft Azure from on-premise or other cloud platforms. Our Azure consultants deliver secure, structured migrations that minimise disruption and modernise infrastructure for long-term scalability.

Service Details

The Azure Migration service is designed to help organisations move applications, data, and infrastructure into Microsoft Azure. Valto works with stakeholders to understand objectives, constraints, and success criteria before defining a migration approach.

We support migrations from on-premise environments and other cloud estates including AWS, Google Cloud Platform, and legacy hosting providers. Our Azure consultancy team assesses existing workloads, dependencies, performance requirements, and security considerations to ensure a safe and effective transition.

Migrations are planned and executed using proven tools and best practices. This includes rehosting, refactoring, or re-platforming workloads where appropriate, alongside identity, networking, and security alignment within Azure.

Following migration, Valto provides validation, optimisation guidance, and next steps. This ensures workloads are stable, secure, and positioned to take advantage of Azure-native services.

Service constraints

The Azure Migration service is typically delivered remotely but can be delivered onsite by agreement. Migration scope, approach, and timelines depend on workload complexity, data volumes, and source platforms. Access to source environments, Azure subscriptions, and stakeholder availability is required. Some workloads may require remediation or redesign prior to migration depending on compatibility and technical constraints.
