Our services are provided by John Hall. John is an independent IT Consultant and Information Security Professional, offering pragmatic advice and assistance based on over 30 years experience of IT generally, and information and cyber security specifically. He has worked with organisations in both the private and public sectors, ranging in size from micro-businesses to global corporations. He spent a number of years with IBM, where his clients included many household names.

John is a Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP), and he was also an accredited adviser to the public sector under the UK Government's CESG Listed Adviser (CLAS) scheme.

We help organisations of all shapes and sizes to adopt a proportionate and risk-managed approach to IT that enables them to function effectively, safely and securely.

If you are looking for help with cyber security, there are a variety of ways we can support you. For example, we offer no-nonsense guidance as a trusted advisor, or an extra pair of hands when you need additional resource to make things happen.
