Gcloud Pricing shedule

Purpose:
A document designed to confirm our special costing model for Gcloud customers and demonstrate indicative costings for holistic services

Affinity offers a completely tailored service whilst still taking advantage of the benefits of SaaS and Cloud based hosting models.

We are an ideal partner if you have challenging digital problems to solve. Whether you are transforming poorly documented legacy systems into re-architected solutions with a robust and well documented strategy for full life cycle; or you have systems with complex integration and migration requirements and a hard deadline for go-live, we can help.

This means we are not able to offer a simple fixed price for your 'shrink-wrapped' product as that's just part of the solution. What we are able to offer you is a simple and competitive blended day-rate, based on resources per man-day charged at £750*, whether you are using our Technical Director or one of our experienced developers.

The exact resource mix and number of days needed will be discussed with you at the start of each project and tailored to fit your exact requirements. You will know exactly what you are paying for under contract and that you can call upon anyone in our organization whenever needed throughout the project life cycle.

Below we have given you an indication of costs associated with optional on-boarding, audits, hosting and support. If you wish us to quote for hosting instead of using your internal service we work with a number of service partners – Amazon Web Services (AWS), ANS, Rackspace and AZURE to name a few.

We reserve the rigth to increase our costs for a colleague to £1,200 per day if the project requires to bring in a specialist for a one off task
