Modern Work Digital
Skills Audit

CHANGE CLIENTS CAN FEEL AT EVERY LEVEL

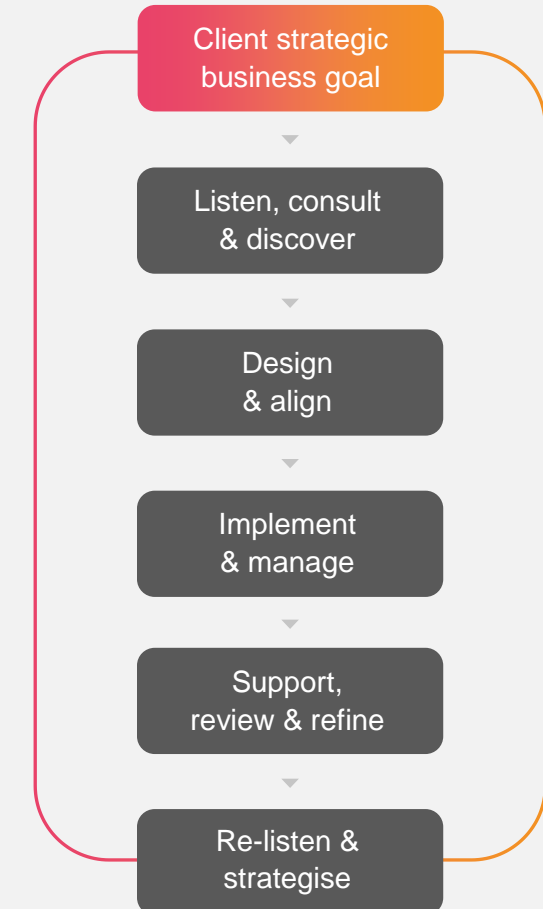

ABOUT THE SERVICE

The Modern Work Digital Skills Audit provides an in-depth training needs analysis for organisations, focusing on identifying both current and future digital skills requirements. By pinpointing precise training strategies, this service aims to tackle existing and potential skills shortages across all levels of the workforce, preparing businesses for contemporary challenges.

Features of the service include a detailed assessment of organisational digital skills needs, custom training plans to address identified gaps, a comprehensive audit across all user and IT support levels, future-proofing against evolving digital requirements, utilising the latest industry insights for accurate needs assessment, supporting strategic workforce development, enhancing IT efficiency and productivity, adaptability to tech trends and business shifts, promoting a proactive digital skills enhancement approach, and strengthening organisational resilience.

Benefits of this service encompass empowering employees with essential modern work digital skills, supporting business digital transformation, mitigating digital skills shortages risks, fostering a culture of continuous learning, increasing operational efficiency, enabling effective digital technology use, maintaining a competitive edge with skilled staff, encouraging employee development, enhancing adaptability to technological changes, and supporting sustainable business growth by aligning skills with future needs.
