

Digital Transformation

Working in partnership with you

Joining the dots across health and care

NHS SCW provides expertise in all aspects of Digital Transformation, to support and empower our partners with access to deep domain subject matter expertise, and expertise within change management.

This enables us to deliver complex Digital Transformation programmes successfully across all sectors of health and care.

Digital Transformation – What We Are About

We have significant demonstratable experience within national cross-government programmes and at-scale delivery across national, regional, ICS footprints and with provider collaboratives as well as facilitating complex change across multiple partner organisations.

01

As NHS partners, we work alongside all stakeholders through the whole project or programme lifecycle from shaping, design, implementation, and adoption; this work also includes the important components of digital transformation such as business case building, benefits realisation, interoperability and stakeholder engagement.

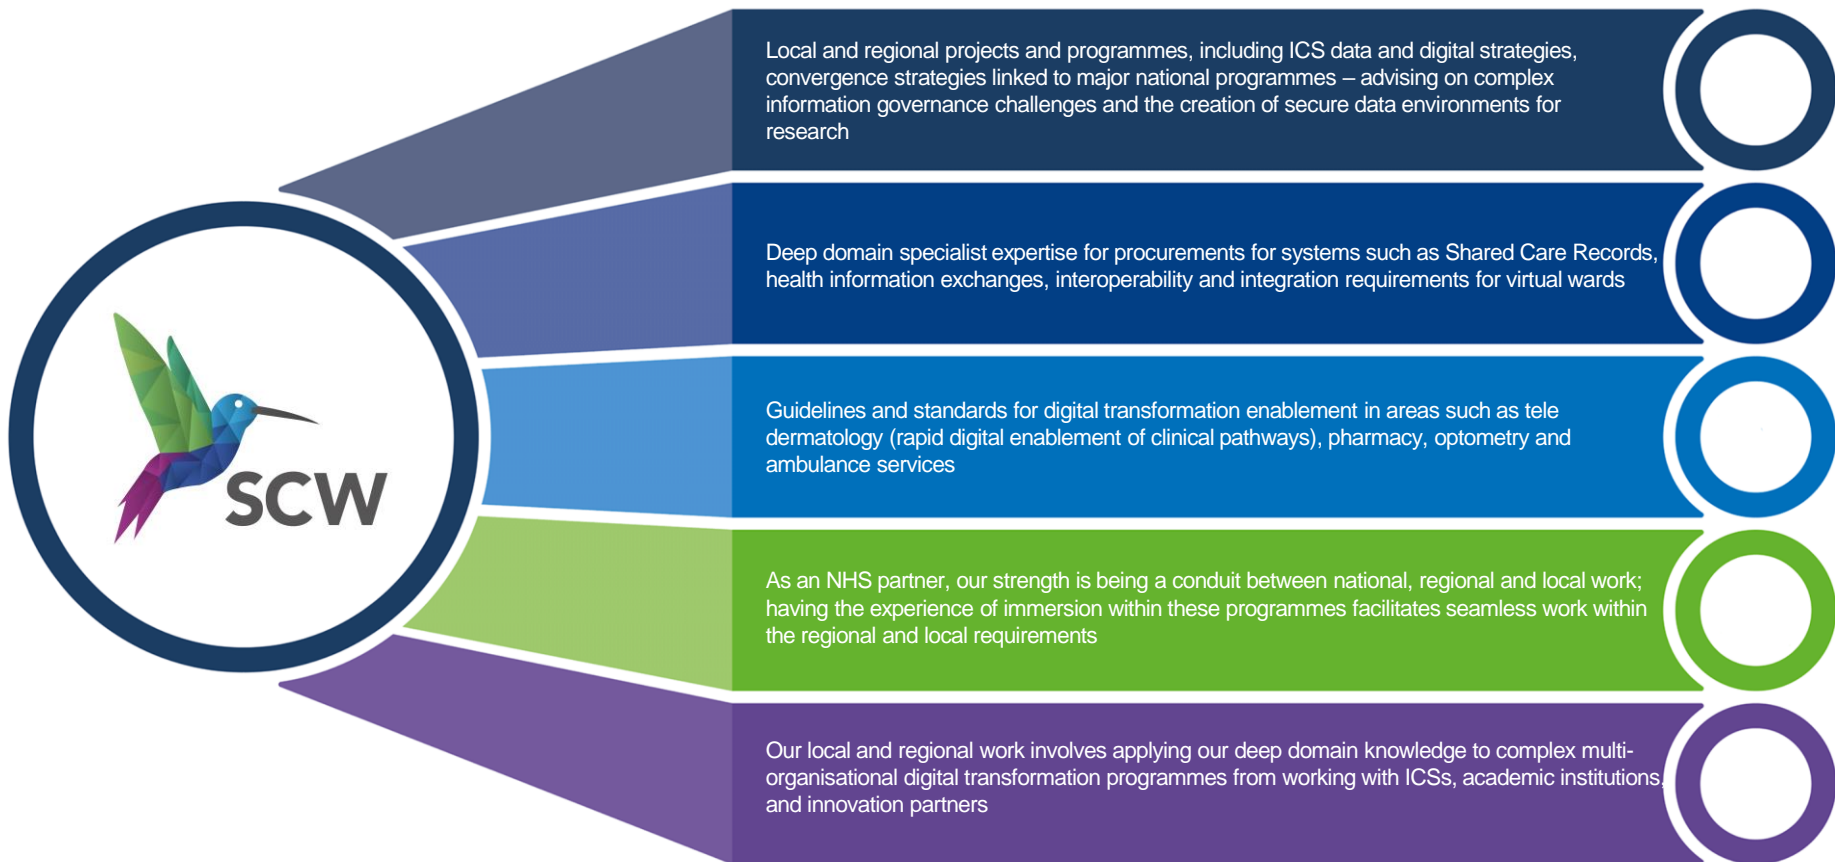

02

With a one team model, we have access to a broad range of skills and capabilities that enable us to mobilise both local and at-scale support quickly. In the spirit of co-creation and partnership working we are well positioned to continually adapt and refine delivery teams to reflect the evolving challenges and demands of projects and programmes of work.

03

Our expertise is both diverse and flexible, working collaboratively to lead end-to-end digital projects and programmes in a way which provides both rapid progress and value for money.
