Service Definition

Digital 575 offers these services:

1. Project Delivery - Let us help you bring ideas to life

We believe that good design makes products and services irresistible. We want to work with clients who want to focus on their customers' needs. Clients who understand the value of designing products and services by starting with the customers.

Each of our teams are unique. We match skill sets and experience to meet clients needs and objectives.

We can facilitate the end to end process from idea generation to go-live. We can work with you to create and test prototypes and gain real world feedback. We can iterate versions to deliver maximum value fast.

2. Project Rescue - Let us help you turn around a failing project

Projects are emotional. When they begin, everyone is excited and optimistic. As they progress, the team's challenge becomes more apparent, and optimism can fade. Add to this an inexperienced team and a lack of delivery framework or governance, and you can begin to understand why projects fail.

We can deploy a team to quickly assess a project and identify what corrective action is required to turn its fortunes around.

Each of our teams is unique. We match skill sets and experience to meet client's needs and objectives.

3. Strategic Consulting - What do you want to achieve?

We believe that great leadership requires a clear strategy. A clear strategy comes from understanding yourself, your market and the opportunities and challenges. We want to work with clients who want to ask themselves challenging questions in order to push themselves forward.

Each of our teams are unique. We match skill sets and experience to meet clients needs and objectives.

We facilitate idea generation and challenge clients to ask themselves tough questions in order to derive the best outcomes. Our teams of experts can work with you, starting with workshops to facilitate ideas and understand challenges then creating and implementing strategies to get results.

4. Data Projects - What have you got?

We can help you gain insight and transform the way you work.

By combining processing and analysis techniques, we can help you organise your data to enhance your insight and decision-making capabilities.

Start with a Discovery Phase to understand your business, tech stack, and challenges. We can then explore platforms, architecture and governance to maximise value and unlock potential hidden in your data.

Next, we can deliver transformation projects to unleash these new capabilities and drive your organisation forward.