Instant Employment Verification

Embrace the future of BPSS screening with us...

We've partnered with Konfir to bring you a future where instant, secure, and reliable employment verification is the norm. Trust us to revolutionise your pre-employment screening process.

What is IEV?

Historically, verifying a candidate's employment history was time-consuming. By partnering with Konfir and introducing instant employment verification we can harness the power of this process. IEV is a method of gathering required employment details via a digital link to the candidate's bank, HMRC government gateway account, or payroll provider.

How does it work?

To streamline the process of obtaining references, candidates give consent to connect via their bank, HMRC or payroll provider and only the required data is collected. This improved approach to obtaining employment details means a smoother process for your candidate, and faster, more reliable results for you.

Why have you introduced IEV?

We understand that employment screening can be a time-consuming task that can add to your workload. We want to take the hassle out of screening, by harnessing the power of instant employment verification, we're offering quick, accurate, and a more reliable way to gather employment information.

Is it secure?

Our process, which is entirely based on consent, enables candidates to provide access at their discretion, ensuring data is accessed only with explicit permission. We adhere to rigorous data protection standards, key data is encrypted and candidate's credentials are never stored.
