OVERVIEW

With a drive for government services to move to the cloud, public sector organisations can benefit from a Cloud Maturity Assessment to understand current maturity level, whether that be in preparation for a cloud migration or for re-baselining maturity levels for services already in the cloud. The assessment identifies what is working efficiently and effectively, and recommendations for what can be improved. Assessment output includes clear actions with clear outcomes that will enable progressive maturity.

In the Scottish public sector, organisations have the opportunity to migrate to the Scottish Government Cloud Platform. This service offering can be used to assess cloud maturity to enable a smoother migration process, with recommendations for improvements before, during and after migration.

This offering is applicable to any public organisation seeking a Cloud Maturity Assessment at any stage of cloud journey with any cloud vendor.
