

Tailored Digital Learning for Software Systems

Me Learning's tailored digital learning for software systems is designed by learning experts to guarantee learning outcomes and tailored to your technology system.

WHAT IS TAILORED DIGITAL LEARNING?

It's when we combine our tried and tested digital learning methods with the specific training needs of your organisation to create engaging digital learning which has a real impact. It simply means we create digital learning to support technology system implementations and optimisations that are bespoke to your training needs.

Research shows we will forget 90% of what we learn within the first month - This has been referred to as The Forgetting Curve by Ebbinghaus. Our tailored digital learning helps organisations beat this curve through learning design that includes emotive, relevant and interesting elements for learners to interact with.

“

I was amazed how high quality the training was. I don't believe that could have been achieved within the variability of face-to-face training in a classroom. Face-to-face is only as good as the trainer on the day, whereas what we achieve with Me Learning was put together by our team, checked by our team, completely bespoke and yet consistent.
