MANAGED THREAT INTELLIGENCE

Meaningful coverage isn’t about monitoring everything. It’s about monitoring what matters. We’re not monitoring technology, we’re monitoring threat actors, campaigns, and adversary behaviours.

RAPID INTELLIGENCE REPORTING

We ingest multiple streams of raw data and intelligence every day, triaging, filtering, and finally conducting thorough analyst evaluations of any items that we determine may be of intelligence interest. In doing so we refine thousands of items of noise down to items of valuable intelligence which defenders need to be aware of.

WHAT, WHY & HOW

Our Rapid Intelligence Reporting service presents valuable intelligence in a concise, no-nonsense format containing high value insights from our analysts and researchers. Our goal is to present your security teams with the information they need, why it matters and what needs to be done.

MANAGED THREAT INTELLIGENCE

We combine deep adversary understanding with red team expertise to deliver intelligence that anticipates threats. Our approach provides contextual insight beyond what automation alone can achieve.

Graph Interface

Our analysts utilise sophisticated visualisation tools to map and investigate intelligence and indicators. This enables us to identify non-obvious connections and provide you with clear, actionable intelligence derived from complex data sets.

Threat Actor Attribution

Our team continuously monitors threat actor behaviours, preferred methods, and infrastructure changes, mapping these to the MITRE ATT&CK framework and providing you with contextualised insights relevant to your specific sector and risk profile.

Malware and Vulnerability Investigation

Our capabilities include advanced technical analysis features such as malware detonation, reverse engineering support, and vulnerability assessment. Our analysts leverage these capabilities to provide you with prioritised recommendations and clear mitigation guidance based on your specific technology stack and security posture.
