Our licenses are based on the number of application instances for a client, with each band including the total number of staff/contractors that will have access to the system (regardless of their system role and function). Standard Licenses are Active Users License (only employees flagged as Active are considered for licensing purposes) and for the UK. International licensing is available.

We do not make a charge per user for licences but price in bands for client instances (one client will only normally have one instance).

System training and on-going assistance and technical support are also included in the annual cost and at no additional cost. Updates and changes to workflow and other configurable features will also be included to ensure the system remains up to date and is changed as required.
