

Legalesign pricing for G-Cloud 15

Per-licence pricing

Customers may subscribe to per-licence plans, which provide access to the Legalesign web application and core functionality. Per-licence pricing is published on the Legalesign website and may vary based on features and configuration.

Per-document/batch pricing

Enterprise and public sector customers typically adopt per-document pricing. Under this model, pricing is based on documents created, together with the number of supported (administrative) users. This allows organisations to provide access to large numbers of users without per-user charges.

Documents may be sent individually, via batch send (a pack of documents), or via bulk send (where large volumes of unique documents are generated from a single template). Volume discounts may be available depending on usage, configuration, and contract term. API access, integrations, and automation features can be included as part of the agreed pricing model.

Contract terms and additional services

Pricing may be agreed on a rolling monthly basis or under longer-term commitments. Optional services, such as training, onboarding assistance, enhanced support, or bespoke data extraction, may be provided by agreement and may be chargeable.
