"My overall impression of Panacea is one of total professionalism in combining a procurement portal that delivers both value for money in the public sector and fully encompasses our specific procurement needs. The Panacea on-boarding team dealt with OEP's specific to and customised for requests with great ease, making use of modern technology that enables the OEP to provide a high-class procurement service for our stakeholders.

"The team showed great patience and empathy in developing a working relationship with us, easily solving issues that arose from our specific set of requirements. It was clear to us from the outset that they wanted to build a great working relationship with our department, their staff are not only professional but easily approachable and the combination of the two made a potentially complex working arrangement extremely easy.

"Overall, I feel confident in stating that as a consultant who runs installation exercises for both public and private sector I would recommend Panacea to organisations who want to move on from legacy systems and to new customers alike."

John Cannon, Senior Procurement Consultant, The Office for Environmental Protection (OEP)
