

Simplifying ongoing GDPR compliance

GDPR compliance isn't a one-off project—it's a continuous obligation.

Failing to maintain robust data protection processes doesn't just risk non-compliance; it exposes your organisation to significant financial and reputational damage. Supervisory Authorities can impose fines of up to €20 million or 4% of global annual turnover, and enforcement activity is increasing year on year.

If you collect or store personal information, compliance is not optional. It's a legal requirement to ensure data is processed securely and lawfully. Beyond avoiding penalties, strong GDPR compliance demonstrates your commitment to privacy, builds trust with clients and stakeholders, and protects your brand.

1 / 2

How PGI helps you stay compliant

Every organisation is at a different stage of its compliance journey. PGI's Information Assurance team provides tailored support across four critical areas:

1 Scope of Processing

Identify what personal data you hold, where it resides, and how it flows through your organisation—essential for lawful processing under GDPR and the Data Protection Act 2018.

2 Gap Analysis

Pinpoint compliance shortfalls and prioritise remediation efforts before regulators or auditors do.

3 Implementation

Deploy pragmatic, proportionate controls that align with legislation and your business objectives.

4 Continuous Support

Benefit from ongoing consultancy to adapt to business changes, strengthen security controls, and maintain compliance over time.

Why choose PGI?

- Tailored approach – No one-size-fits-all solutions; advice aligned to your business needs.
- Practical and affordable – Proportionate measures that deliver value without unnecessary cost.
- Cross-sector expertise – Consultants with backgrounds in security, law enforcement, intelligence, and academia.
- Global experience – Trusted by organisations in over 50 countries.
- Vendor-neutral advice – Recommendations based solely on your risk profile, not product sales.

Ready to simplify your ongoing GDPR compliance?

Non-compliance costs far more than consultancy. The average cost of a data breach is $4.45M (IBM), and reputational damage can be irreversible. PGI helps you reduce risk, avoid penalties, and safeguard trust—while freeing your team to focus on growth.

Let's talk: findoutmore@pgitl.com