Rippling uses a modular, per-employee billing model: you pay a monthly base fee for the core platform plus a fixed amount per employee per month. You then choose which specific services you need — payroll, HR, IT, expense/spend management, contractor or global-payroll support — and pay only for what you use.

This flexible “build-as-you-grow” structure makes Rippling cost-effective for small teams, yet scalable and manageable for larger organisations with complex requirements.

For more information and to receive an accurate, tailored quote in GBP based on your team size, required modules and operational needs, please contact Generation Digital.
