Thought for 29s

I ran a consolidated month-end variance analysis for March 2025 across the uploaded department files. You'll see two interactive tables in the workspace:

- Month-end Summary by Department (March 2025): total Budget, Actual, Variance $ and Variance % per department.
- Flagged Variances > 7% (Drivers by Category): category-level drivers for any department where Variance % exceeds 7%.

I also saved a full Excel workbook with a Summary tab, per-department detail tabs, and a "Flagged Drivers" tab: Download the Excel report. This file was created at the path shown in my run output.

What I calculated (so you can audit quickly)

Variance formulas:

- Variance $ = Actual - Budget
- Variance % = (Actual - Budget) / Budget (safe-handled when Budget = 0).
