Endpoint Security

(Forticlient & EMS)

Endpoint Security (Forticlient & EMS)

FortiClient is Fortinet's Endpoint Security solution, providing protection across operating systems through a single lightweight agent.

FortiClient integrates endpoints into Fortinet's Security Fabric for early detection and prevention of advanced threats. This integration delivers native endpoint visibility, compliance control, vulnerability management, and automation.

Leveraging global threat intelligence and cloud sandboxing, it detects and mitigates emerging threats, enabling centralised visibility and automated response across your infrastructure.

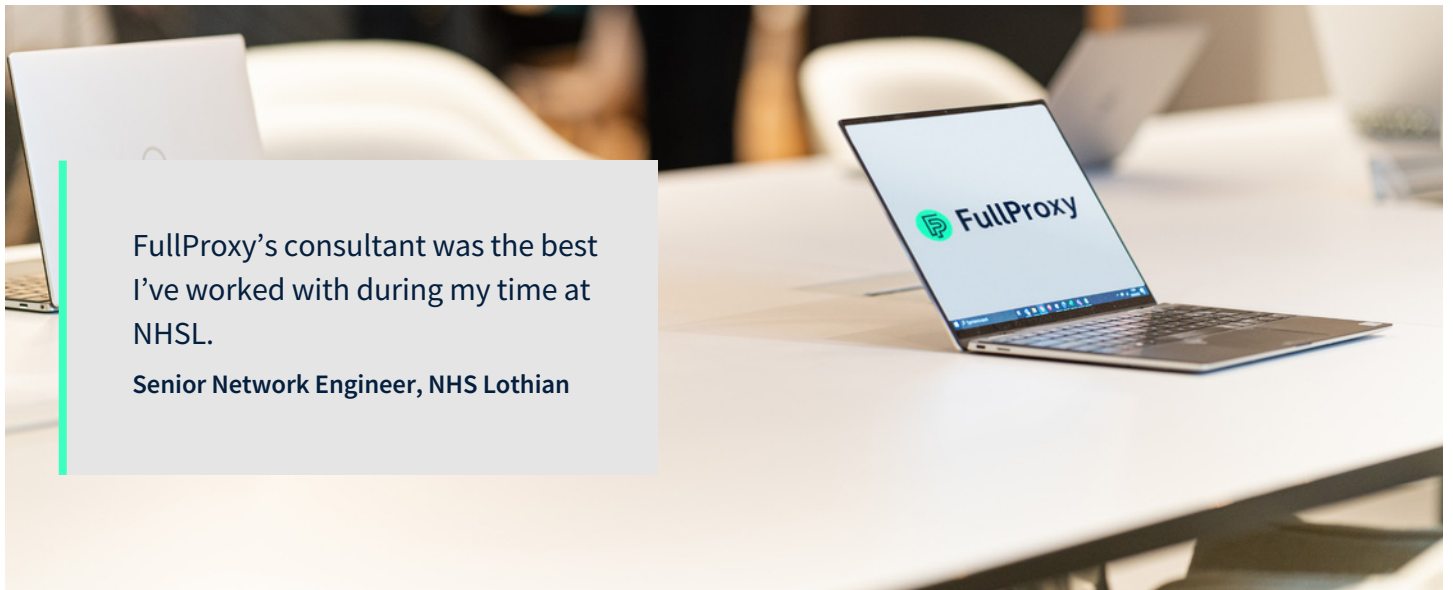

Benefits include:

- Comprehensive endpoint protection against cyber threats.
- Increased security for remote and mobile workforces
- Centralised visibility and control over endpoints
- Seamless user experience and productivity and enablement
- Reduced risk of data breaches and compliance violations
- Automated security operations and incident response
- Lower total cost of ownership
- Scalable and flexible deployment options
- Integrated with Fortinet's broad security portfolio
- Leverages advanced threat intelligence and research

Endpoint Security Features:

- Unified endpoint protection across multiple operating systems
- Advanced malware protection and cloud-based sandboxing.
- Web filtering and application control capabilities
- Integrated VPN client for secure remote access
- Leverages global threat intelligence from Fortinet
- Seamless integration with Fortinet Security Fabric
- Centralised management and policy enforcement
- Automated vulnerability scanning and patch management
- Supports two-factor authentication for enhanced security
- Lightweight agent with minimal system impact
