Pricing Overview

Our pricing model for Business Transformation is based around three key areas: Technology, People and Process. These products within each of the three critical areas support the success of the transformation of the organisation.

We have introduced an Artificial Intelligence (AI) triggered Business Transformation angle to all our products.

These products can be bought as discrete packages for a phased and considered approach that will not overwhelm the teams, budget and pace of delivery for the transformational changes required by organisations in the current fast-changing climate.

We also provide consultancy packages for ad hoc support, that can be a flexible and cost-effective way of obtaining specialist advice and support while you as an organisation lead the change. It is especially suitable for teams with capacity issues,

Please note all costs included in this document are indicative and may alter once scope has been clearly defined.

Consultancy support packages

Our consulting subscription packages are designed to provide your organisation with flexible, high-value access to senior expertise, structured support, and ongoing strategic guidance. Each package offers a clear, predictable monthly investment and delivers a blend of advisory, analysis, and hands-on involvement tailored to your level of transformation activity.

By selecting the package that best aligns with your needs, you gain a trusted partner who will help you accelerate progress, reduce risk, and deliver meaningful business outcomes, without the cost or complexity of expanding your internal team.

We offer three support packages as a fixed-price monthly subscription¹.

- Bronze → “Expert guidance when you need it.”
- Silver → “Consistent support to drive momentum.”
- Gold → “A full transformation capability without the headcount.”

This is a low-commitment option for obtaining the in-depth management consultancy expertise, quickly and within tight budgets.

Bronze support

For organisations that need expert guidance on demand, clear direction, and confidence in decision-making, without heavy consulting engagement.

Subscription model at £1,500 per month.

For this you will get:

- Unlimited email support – for any questions or advice you may have
- Focused advisory hours - 4 hours per month
- Monthly check-ins
- Templates, frameworks, or dashboards required

Best for ad hoc support for business changes where ongoing guidance is required but not structured or planned.

Silver support

For organisations actively delivering change and needing structured, ongoing involvement to maintain momentum and reduce risk.

Subscription model at £3,500 per month.

For this you will get:

- Two 30 min weekly calls to cover any business issues you wish to discuss
- Focused advisory hours - 20 hours per month
- Monthly check-ins
- Templates, frameworks, or dashboards required

Best in-depth support for business changes where ongoing guidance is required and can fit in with existing projects where subject matter expertise within the business transformation space is required.

¹ You can terminate with a month's notice on all three options.

Gold support

For organisations ready to scale, modernise, or implement AI and digital change at pace, without building an internal transformation function.

Subscription model at £15,500 per month.

For this you will get:

- Dedicated consultant or fractional team
- Unlimited async support
- Workshops, meetings for discovery, project plan and next steps sessions
- Project delivery support
- Custom dashboards and analytics (using AI as appropriate)
- Focused advisory hours - 20 hours per month
- Monthly check-ins
- Templates, frameworks, or dashboards required

Best in-depth support for business changes where ongoing guidance is essential and is required to deliver a business transformation project with limited to no internal capacity for resourcing the project.

Next Steps

If you would like an initial discussion to better understand our services and the options available to you, please make contact and we will be in touch.

We recognise that all clients are individual. Following any initial discussions, we will work with you to ensure that our pricing and charging options offer you the best value for money and meet your specific needs.
