PROBATION & COMMUNITY SUPERVISION

Socrates 360 provides a smarter way to manage communications and provide engaging content, services and support to people on probation and community supervision

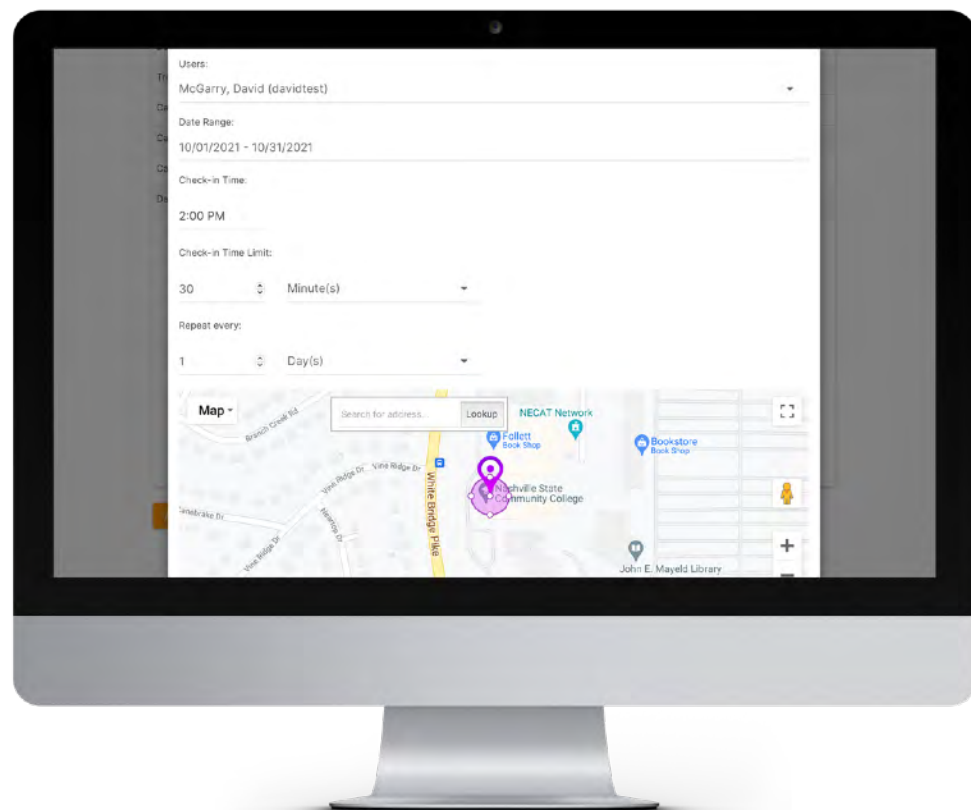

Socrates 360 helps support probationers and prison-leavers by providing easy access to the content they need, covering health, wellbeing, employment, interventions, and improved communications between staff and probationer.

PROBATION AND DAY RELEASE

- Socrates 360 brings together tailored content and support, signposting for useful services, and interventions, to improve outcomes for service users.
- Check-in compliance uses a voice biometric system to validate the service user, alongside a geolocated photo of the subject.
- Probationers can be assigned a specified or randomised schedule to check-in at particular locations. Officers receive a notification if the probationer fails to check in on time, or if the check-in location is non-compliant.

Probationers have access to a wide range of content and features to support communication, access to local services, and wellbeing.

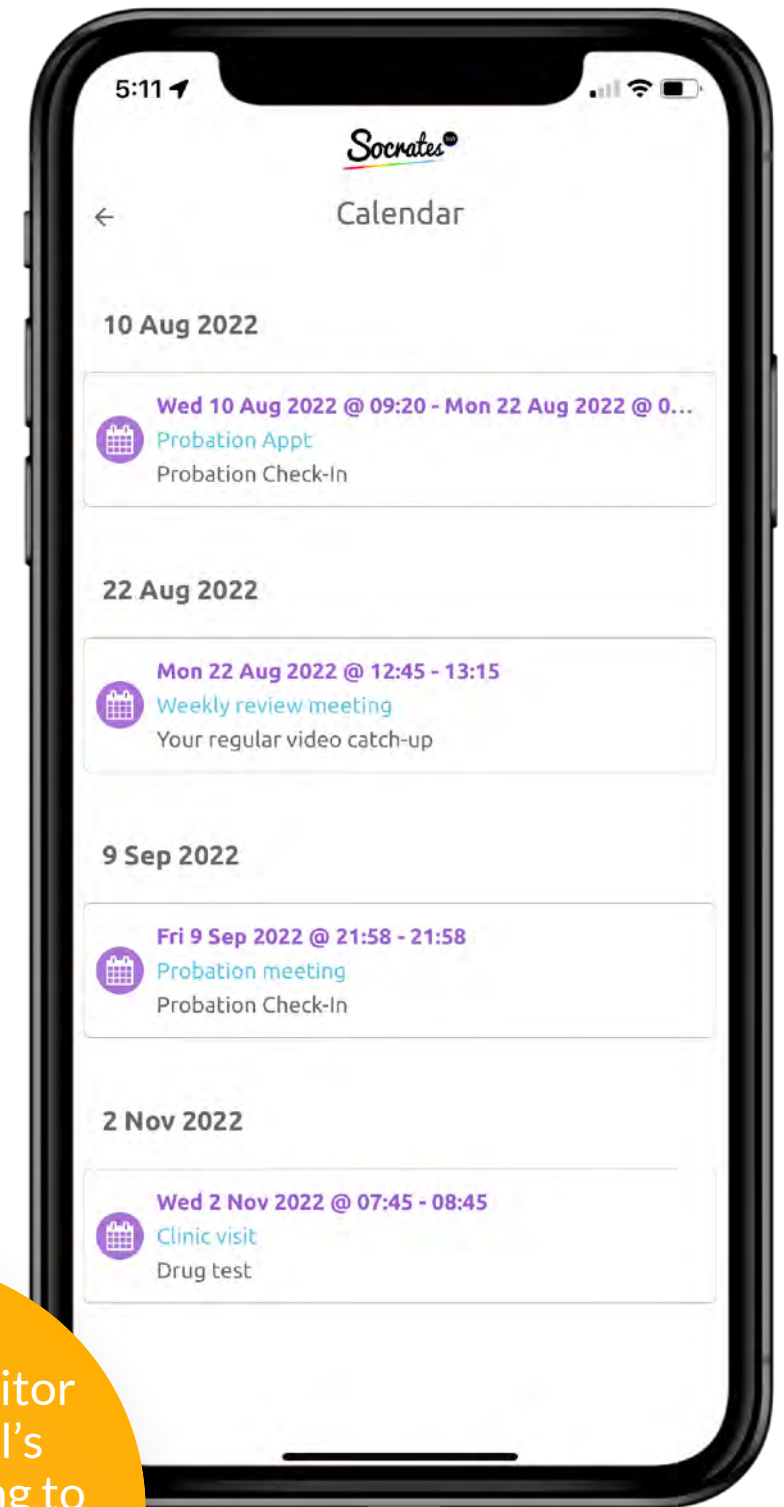

ORGANISER & EVENTS

- Our organiser module includes a calendar facility where officers, mentors or service providers can add appointments, scheduled video calls and meetings.
- Automated reminders, and directions to meetings/places of work, help keep service users on track and avoid technical violations.
- Electronic forms can capture timely information at the end of meetings or whenever required by staff, helping staff manage their workload and ensuring requests, feedback and issues are not missed or forgotten.

Create custom forms to collect requests, reports or feedback from probationers

Attaching a location to an event makes it easy to view the venue and address on a map

Staff can monitor an individual's activity, helping to focus time on those who need it most

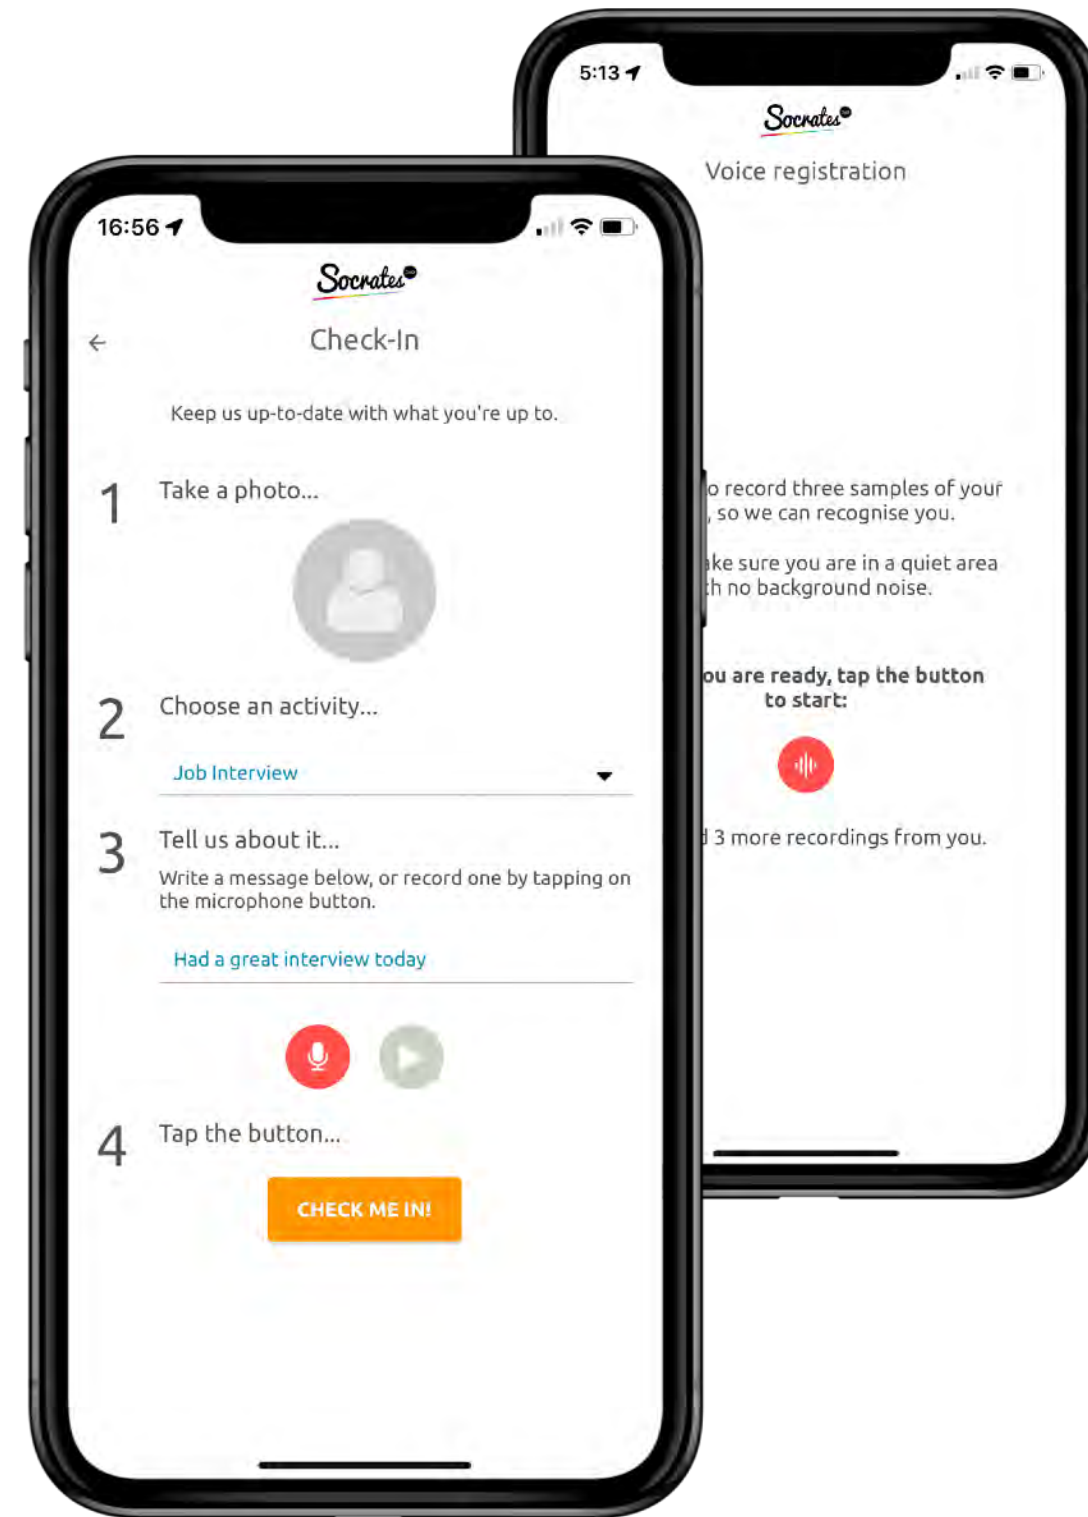

CHECK-IN

- Our system allows probationers to save time by simply checking in from their designated location, on their own phone. Staff can focus their efforts on those that require in-person visits or need face-to-face support.
- Officers can send messages to service users, asking them to complete forms, reminders for appointments, or check in at any time.
- Probationers check in with a photo, voice verification, current location, and answer any questions required by staff.
- Staff can review check-ins from the staff portal, and are automatically alerted to a non-compliant check-in.

Expected check-in locations, compliance questions, and schedules are all customisable by staff

If the check-in is non-compliant, officers are alerted so they can contact the service user and intervene

HEALTH & WELLBEING

Socrates 360 can help give probationers autonomy and reduce stigma, while providing the necessary support via their own phone, whenever and wherever required.

- Configuration can be customised to fit your requirements and additional content can be provided instantly to some or all of your service users, as required.
- Staff can monitor probationers' check-in activity and form responses to make sure they remain compliant.

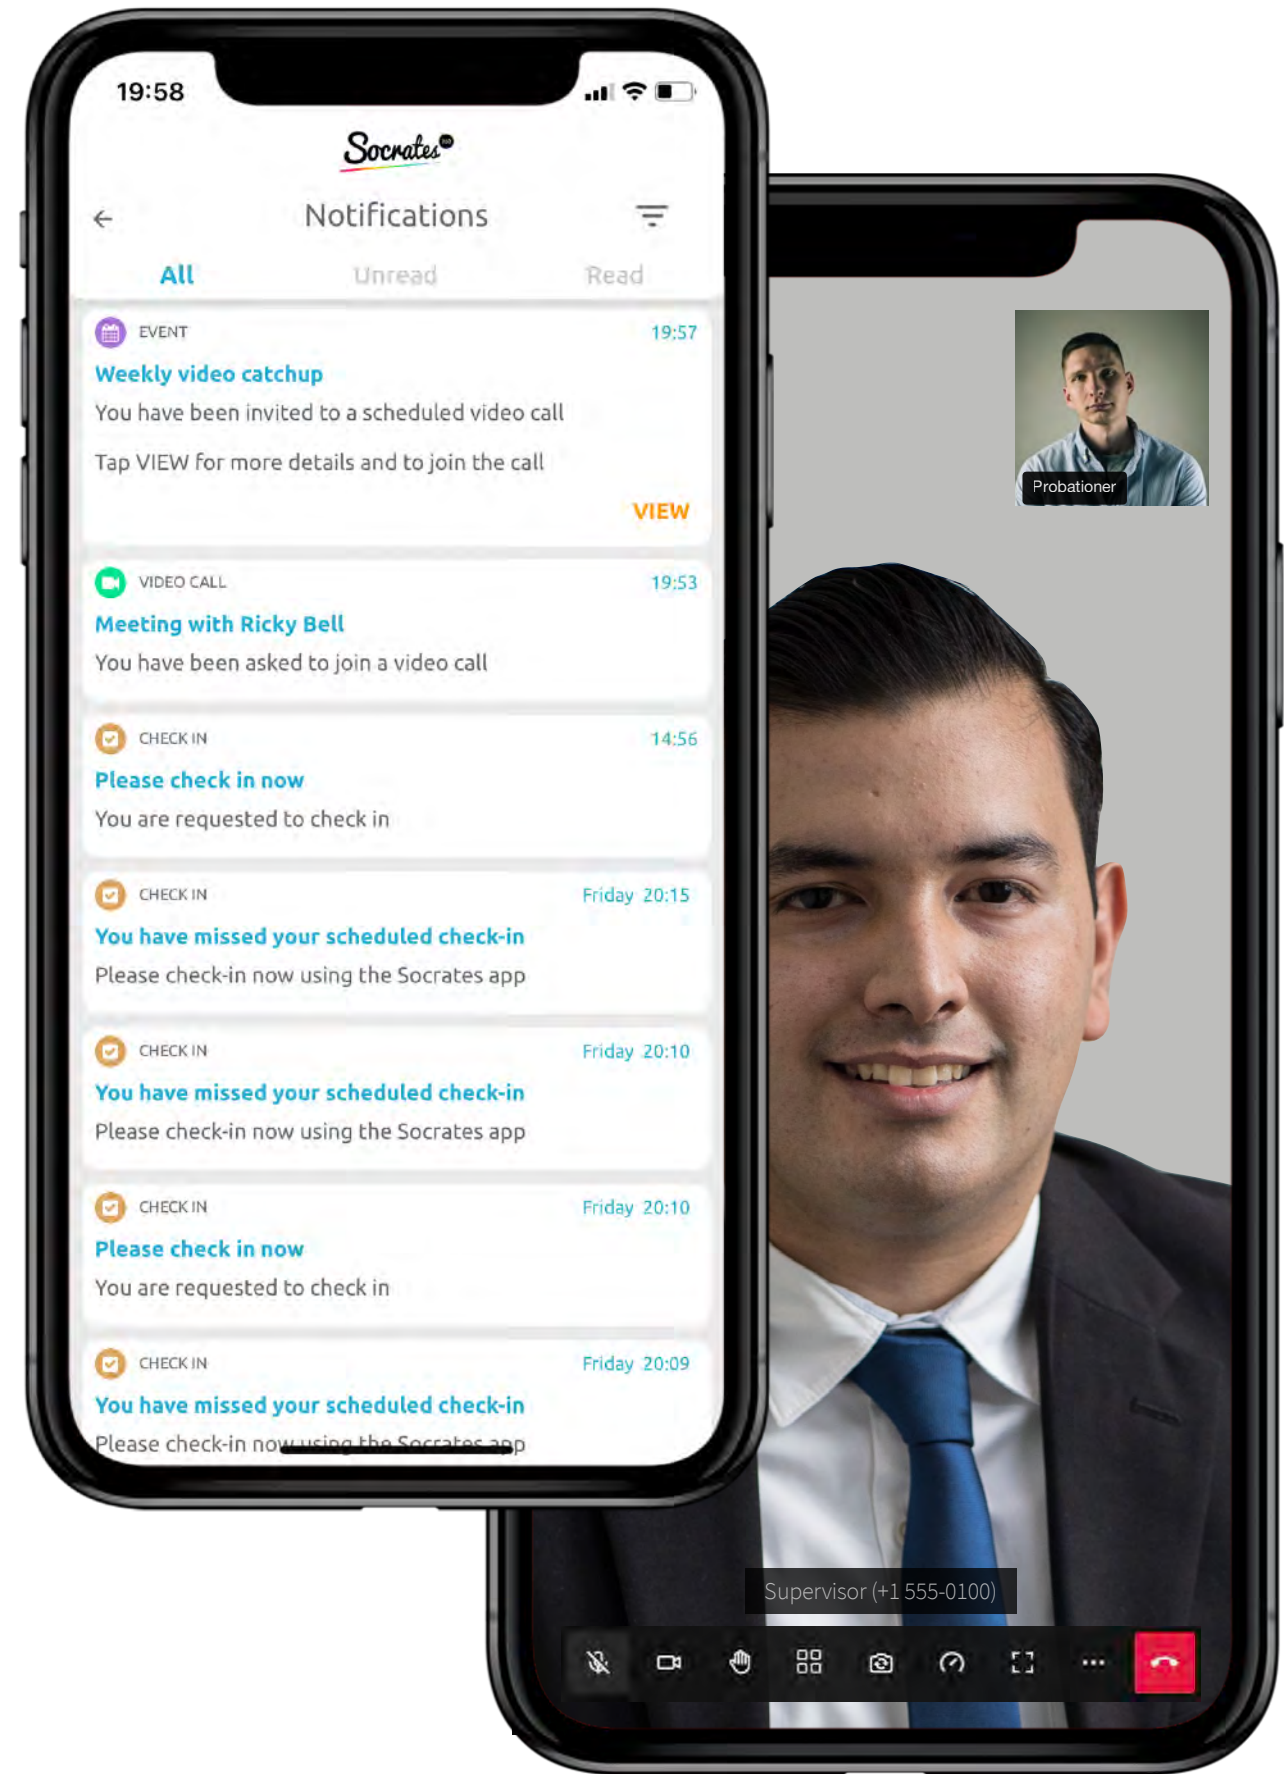

You can easily manage your service, caseload, communications and reporting from the staff portal.

EASY FOR STAFF TO COMMUNICATE

- A built-in contacts directory gives individuals easy access to contact their supervisors, local support services and other service providers.
- This system makes it easy for probationers and staff to stay in touch via secure video call, built directly into the app - no need to download any additional software.
- Staff can send push notifications to service users' phones, reminding them of upcoming appointments, form requests, video calls or any other important information.

Officers can make video calls to service users via the app, either on-demand or using the calendar feature to schedule a call at a specified date and time
