G-Cloud Service Name

Digital Communities

Service Overview

A secure, scalable, responsive community platform for open knowledge exchange and collaboration that brings together disparate organisations and people, enabling them to work easily across departmental, organisational, IT, geographical and language boundaries. A feature-rich, configurable, flexible communities of practice solution, capable of operating as an intranet, extranet or both.

Please see the Digital Communities service definition for further information.

Pricing

Digital Communities is offered as an annual subscription on a per user basis. Subscription fees include hosting, maintenance, support and an optional half-day community management training session for up to 12 delegates to be taken within the first 3 months, as set out in the service definition.

The one-off implementation fee in the first year covers platform setup, configuration, onboarding and training for system administrators.

Any additional activities such as data migration, extra implementation support days or establishment of integration with services, systems or networks will be in line with resources required for that activity. The individual day rate for each resource type is included in the SFIA rate card.
