

DevSultants

Advise • Create • Engage

G-Cloud 15

Service Definition Document

Cloud Strategy and Architecture

Devsultants can help you create a strategy and architecture for a successful cloud solution that meets the needs of your organisation. In determining the strategy and architecture for you we will consider both industry best practice, and also what will work for your organisation, to maximise the benefits for you.

Service features

- Develop a strategy that works for you
- Ensure that strategies are implementable by your organisation
- Create an architecture aligned with organisational needs
- TOGAF practitioners with wide ranging client experience
- Setup and integration of enterprise architecture team

Service benefits

- Rapid maturity assessment of existing strategy and architecture
- Re-use existing processes and materials to minimise time required
- Iterative development of architecture, achieving benefits sooner
- Develop a strategy to help achieve your organisational goals
- Create a strong architectural foundation to build future capabilities
- DV and SC resources, so fewer delays waiting for clearances

Credentials

Central Government Client

Working closely with a blended team of platform and application suppliers, our team developed the overall architecture for a major new operational capability for the client. In order to facilitate the client's requirement to have early access to some of the capabilities, the architecture was designed with multiple MVP transition states to align with the envisioned growth in usage over time.

As a result of subsequent (and substantial) environmental changes, the architecture required further modification, but our team was able to work in an agile way with the client and other suppliers to modify and update the architectural transition states, and maintain alignment with the required timeframes for delivery of the new capabilities, to help ensure that the client and their partner organisations could achieve the desired benefits.

National Policing Client

As part of a major IT Live Services transformation programme, our team helped the client develop and initiate implementation of a new strategy that was beneficial for, and achievable by, the organisation. Working closely alongside client teams, we helped prioritise and set out the roadmap of work to achieve near term benefits that would also form the foundations for their longer term operational vision.

Client Director of Live Services: "I have used [the Devsultants team] as a sounding board in a number of areas where strategy has been lacking and we have to make decisions in ambiguous circumstances - very much amongst the best in terms of willingness to own the problem and act in the best interests of the client."

