

Supplier: Apprilis

Role: Implementation, delivery and support partner for third-party cloud software

Lot: G-Cloud 15 – Lot 2b (Cloud Software)

Apprilis supplies, implements and supports the software listed below as an authorised partner.

All prices exclude VAT. Final pricing is agreed via CCS call-off.

Software licence pricing

Software partner: DataFabricX

| Product                                          | Description                                                                                                  | Key benefits                                                                                 | Pricing                 | Notes                                                                              |
|--------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| DFXAgenticContentPlatform– Basic | Unified interface integrated with enterprise systems, collaboration tools, document management and workflows | Simplified user experience with fast access to enterprise information from a single platform | £120 per user per annum | Requires OneDrive or Google Drive for storage and Windmill for workflow automation |
| DFXAgenticContentPlatform– Pro   | All Basic features plus secure external file sharing                                                         | Secure collaboration with internal and external users                                        | £160 per user per annum | Requires OneDrive or Google Drive and Windmill                                     |
| DFXSmartSearch– Basic                | Enterprise search across documents, emails, Teams, DMS and file systems (read-only)                          | Rapid search with typo correction, fuzzy matching and metadata catalogues                    | £50,000 per annum       | Includes 1 test and 1 production instance                                          |

|                        |                                                                                        |                                                                           |                         |                                                       |
|------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|
| DFX Smart Search – Pro | Advanced enterprise search with read/write access, versioning and document comparison  | Faster retrieval with automated version control and comparison            | £75,000 per annum       | Includes 1 test and 1 production instance             |
| DFX AI Hub Engine      | Document AI, intelligent document processing, translation and enterprise knowledge hub | Accelerates automation, reduces operational costs and improves compliance | £50,000 per annum       | AI usage units purchased separately from LLM provider |
| DFX Copilot            | Conversational AI across public internet and internal enterprise data                  | Faster insights, unified intelligence and role-based secure access        | £120 per user per annum | AI usage units purchased separately from LLM provider |

Usage-based pricing, where applicable, varies based on the defined usage variable stated above.

Any minimum licence commitments are stated in the pricing table.

What is included

The licence price includes access to the software service and standard functionality as described in the service description. Where the service is delivered as Software as a Service, hosting and standard updates are included. Apprilis acts as the delivery and support partner unless otherwise stated.

Commercial assumptions

- Prices are exclusive of VAT.
- Billing is monthly or annually as stated above.
- Licence pricing may vary based on usage variables such as user numbers, data volumes or transaction levels, where applicable.

- Service availability, support levels and data handling are as described in the service description and service definition.
- The CCS call-off terms take precedence.