Aaseya Pega Licence Reselling Services

1. Overview

Pricing for Aaseya Pega Licence Reselling Services is determined by the Pega licence model, subscription structure, and the specific commercial requirements of the customer. Licence costs are governed by Pegasystems' standard pricing frameworks and commercial terms, with Aaseya acting as an authorised reseller to support compliant procurement and commercial alignment.

The overall pricing is influenced by factors such as the selected Pega products and editions, deployment model (Pega Cloud or customer-managed environments), number of users, case volumes, environments required (development, test, production), subscription duration, and any planned scalability or future expansion. Renewal timelines, contract tenure, and alignment with delivery roadmaps may also impact commercial structuring.

Aaseya provides advisory support to help customers select and structure licences that are right-sized to actual usage, ensuring cost effectiveness, compliance with Pegasystems' licensing policies, and alignment with both current and future platform needs. Any associated professional services, such as licence advisory, sizing assessments, or alignment with implementation programmes, are scoped and priced separately based on customer requirements.

Pricing transparency is maintained throughout the procurement lifecycle, with clear visibility into licence components, subscription terms, and renewal implications, enabling informed decision-making and predictable commercial outcomes.
