

Liberty IDP (Intelligent Document Processing)

Liberty IDP is an AI-driven document processing tool designed to streamline operations for the most demanding type of organisations. It consists of two main

- Document Understanding: automation of data extraction, document classification and interpretation from a variety of document formats using cutting-edge artificial intelligence.
- Document Generation: a powerful and flexible document generation tool that allows to easily set up and manage different templates, generate pdf or word document from one page up to hundreds of pages.

Liberty IDP Pricing

Liberty IDP is offered through an annual subscription model, with two parts to the model.

- Processing License (Pricing for Liberty IDP Processing Licenses): this defines the hosting and processing capabilities, which in turn determine the method and speed of document processing.
- Document Credits Band Pricing for Document Credit by Bands): Each band includes a fixed number of Document Credits per month, provided on a use-it-or-lose-it basis, structured across 14 pricing bands. The table outlines the per-unit cost for each band, and the number of monthly Document Credits included. Additional credits can be purchased in blocks of 5,000. However, it may be more cost-effective to scale up a Band.

Included in the pricing:

- Unlimited setup of document types via the Wizard.
- Unlimited templates for document generation.

Credit Vouchers

Document credits included in the bands are sold on a use-it-or-lose-it basis, and Vouchers are offered so customers can choose to pre- or post-pay for capacity overuse.

Vouchers are especially useful for dealing with unplanned increases in demand, where increasing the included capacity for the remaining term of the contract might not be appropriate, or cost effective. Vouchers are cheaper than paying for overuse, and work by providing a pre-paid pot of capacity that can be used to offset any monthly overuse, and therefore avoid additional charges.

They do not increase the included monthly allowance.

For example, a customer with an included capacity of 50,000 document credits per month usage might look like this:

- Month 1 usage: 48,000
- Month 2 usage: 55,000

Month 1: This incurs no additional charges as only 48,000 of the 50,000 included monthly document credits were used. The unused 2000 document credits are not carried over into the next month. The count for Month 2 will start at zero.

Month 2: This exceeds the monthly 50,000 document credits by 5000, as such it would normally incur a charge for overuse as set out in the Overuse section below. However, the customer can opt to purchase a 50,000 Document Voucher, meaning there would be no charge to the customer because the 5000 over use would be deducted from the voucher, leaving 45,000 for future offset use.

Pricing for Credit Vouchers (one-off)

Credit Vouchers	Price (one-off)
Document credits (block of 50,000)	£600.00

Vouchers do not increase the agreed monthly capacity.

Vouchers can be used at any time in a contract term, and are valid for 12 months or the length of the contract (whichever is the shortest).

Credit Overuse

In the event that a customer uses more than their Included Capacity, no vouchers have been purchased, or their optional Vouchers capacity has been used. The customer will then be charged for any overuse in arrears at the per unit rate outlined below:

Credit Overuse charges (one-off per document)

Credit Overuse charges	Price (one-off)
Per Document credit	£0.02
