Independent Quality Assurance

Independent assurance of delivery

For many of the organisations that we engage with undertaking a major change initiatives, IT delivery and digital transformation are not their core business. Relying on third-party Systems Integrators to bridge the gap can understandably introduce concerns and uncertainties, as well as risks that programmes may fall short of delivering the expected outcomes.

Expleo's independent, expert-led assurance model is a trusted solution designed for rapid implementation. It enhances business confidence in the success of transformation initiatives, mitigates quality risks, and assures the achievement of program outcomes with certainty. By leveraging comprehensive program metrics and the expertise of our assurance professionals, we implement predictive analytics to proactively identify potential challenges. Our approach drives preventative actions, all supported by real-time reporting for enhanced visibility and control.

Built on the robust foundations of our proven ELEVATE methodology, including frameworks, reusable assets, and accelerators, Expleo provides comprehensive assurance across a variety of engagement models using multiple assurance techniques:

Embedded teams: Integrated within your program to gather insights, build relationships, and deeply understand delivery scope – ensuring precise focus and timely prioritization

Stage Gate Reviews: Facilitate seamless transitions between phases, providing assurance that your program is progressing as planned

Regular health checks: Proactively monitor program progress, identifying and addressing potential issues before they escalate

Deep dives: Target critical areas with periodic reviews, such as our Strategic Quality Review, to resolve challenges and assure high-priority elements of your program

Full assurance of digital change programmes
