

Open Data Discovery

Explore how an open data approach could shape your organisation's future.

Across the NHS, trusts are facing major digital transitions – legacy systems are ending, integration is poor, and vendor lock-in continues to limit progress.

Our Open Data Discovery engagement is designed to help you step back, assess your digital landscape, and make informed decisions for a future that's open, interoperable, and adds value to your organisation.

What you get...

Current state mapping

Clear documentation of your digital estate, systems, and data flows

Future-state design

A high-level open architecture aligned to your strategic goals

Gap analysis

Identifying gaps or duplication between the current state and future state design

Open data opportunities

Exploring how current and future systems can work together using open data standards

Tech stack recommendations

Including openEHR data repositories, low-code tools, and cloud infrastructure

Strategic roadmap

Clear, actionable route to achieve your desired outcomes

Everything we produce is practical, presentation-ready and created collaboratively to ensure buy-in.
