Media Content Management

INTRODUCTION

Decillion Digital delivers a cloud-based enterprise media content management service designed for secure, large-scale collaboration. We provide web and mobile applications that support shared media workflows while maintaining full data-protection compliance. Our solution includes built-in video editing, advanced metadata tagging, and AI-powered search, enabling organisations to efficiently manage both historical archives and rapidly growing media collections.

SERVICE FEATURES

- Manage all forms of digital content within a single, unified platform.
- Support rich media formats including images, video, and audio.
- Enable advanced metadata tagging and powerful search for rapid content discovery.
- Provide automated and manual consent-management tools to ensure compliance.
- Offer content flagging, redaction, and intelligent de-duplication features.
- Deliver robust archiving and records-management capabilities for long-term preservation.
- Securely store large-scale datasets, including multi-terabyte collections.
- Include integrated video-editing functionality for streamlined media workflows.
- Use AI-driven search to enhance content findability and contextual relevance.
- Provide mobile applications to support a distributed and on-the-go workforce.

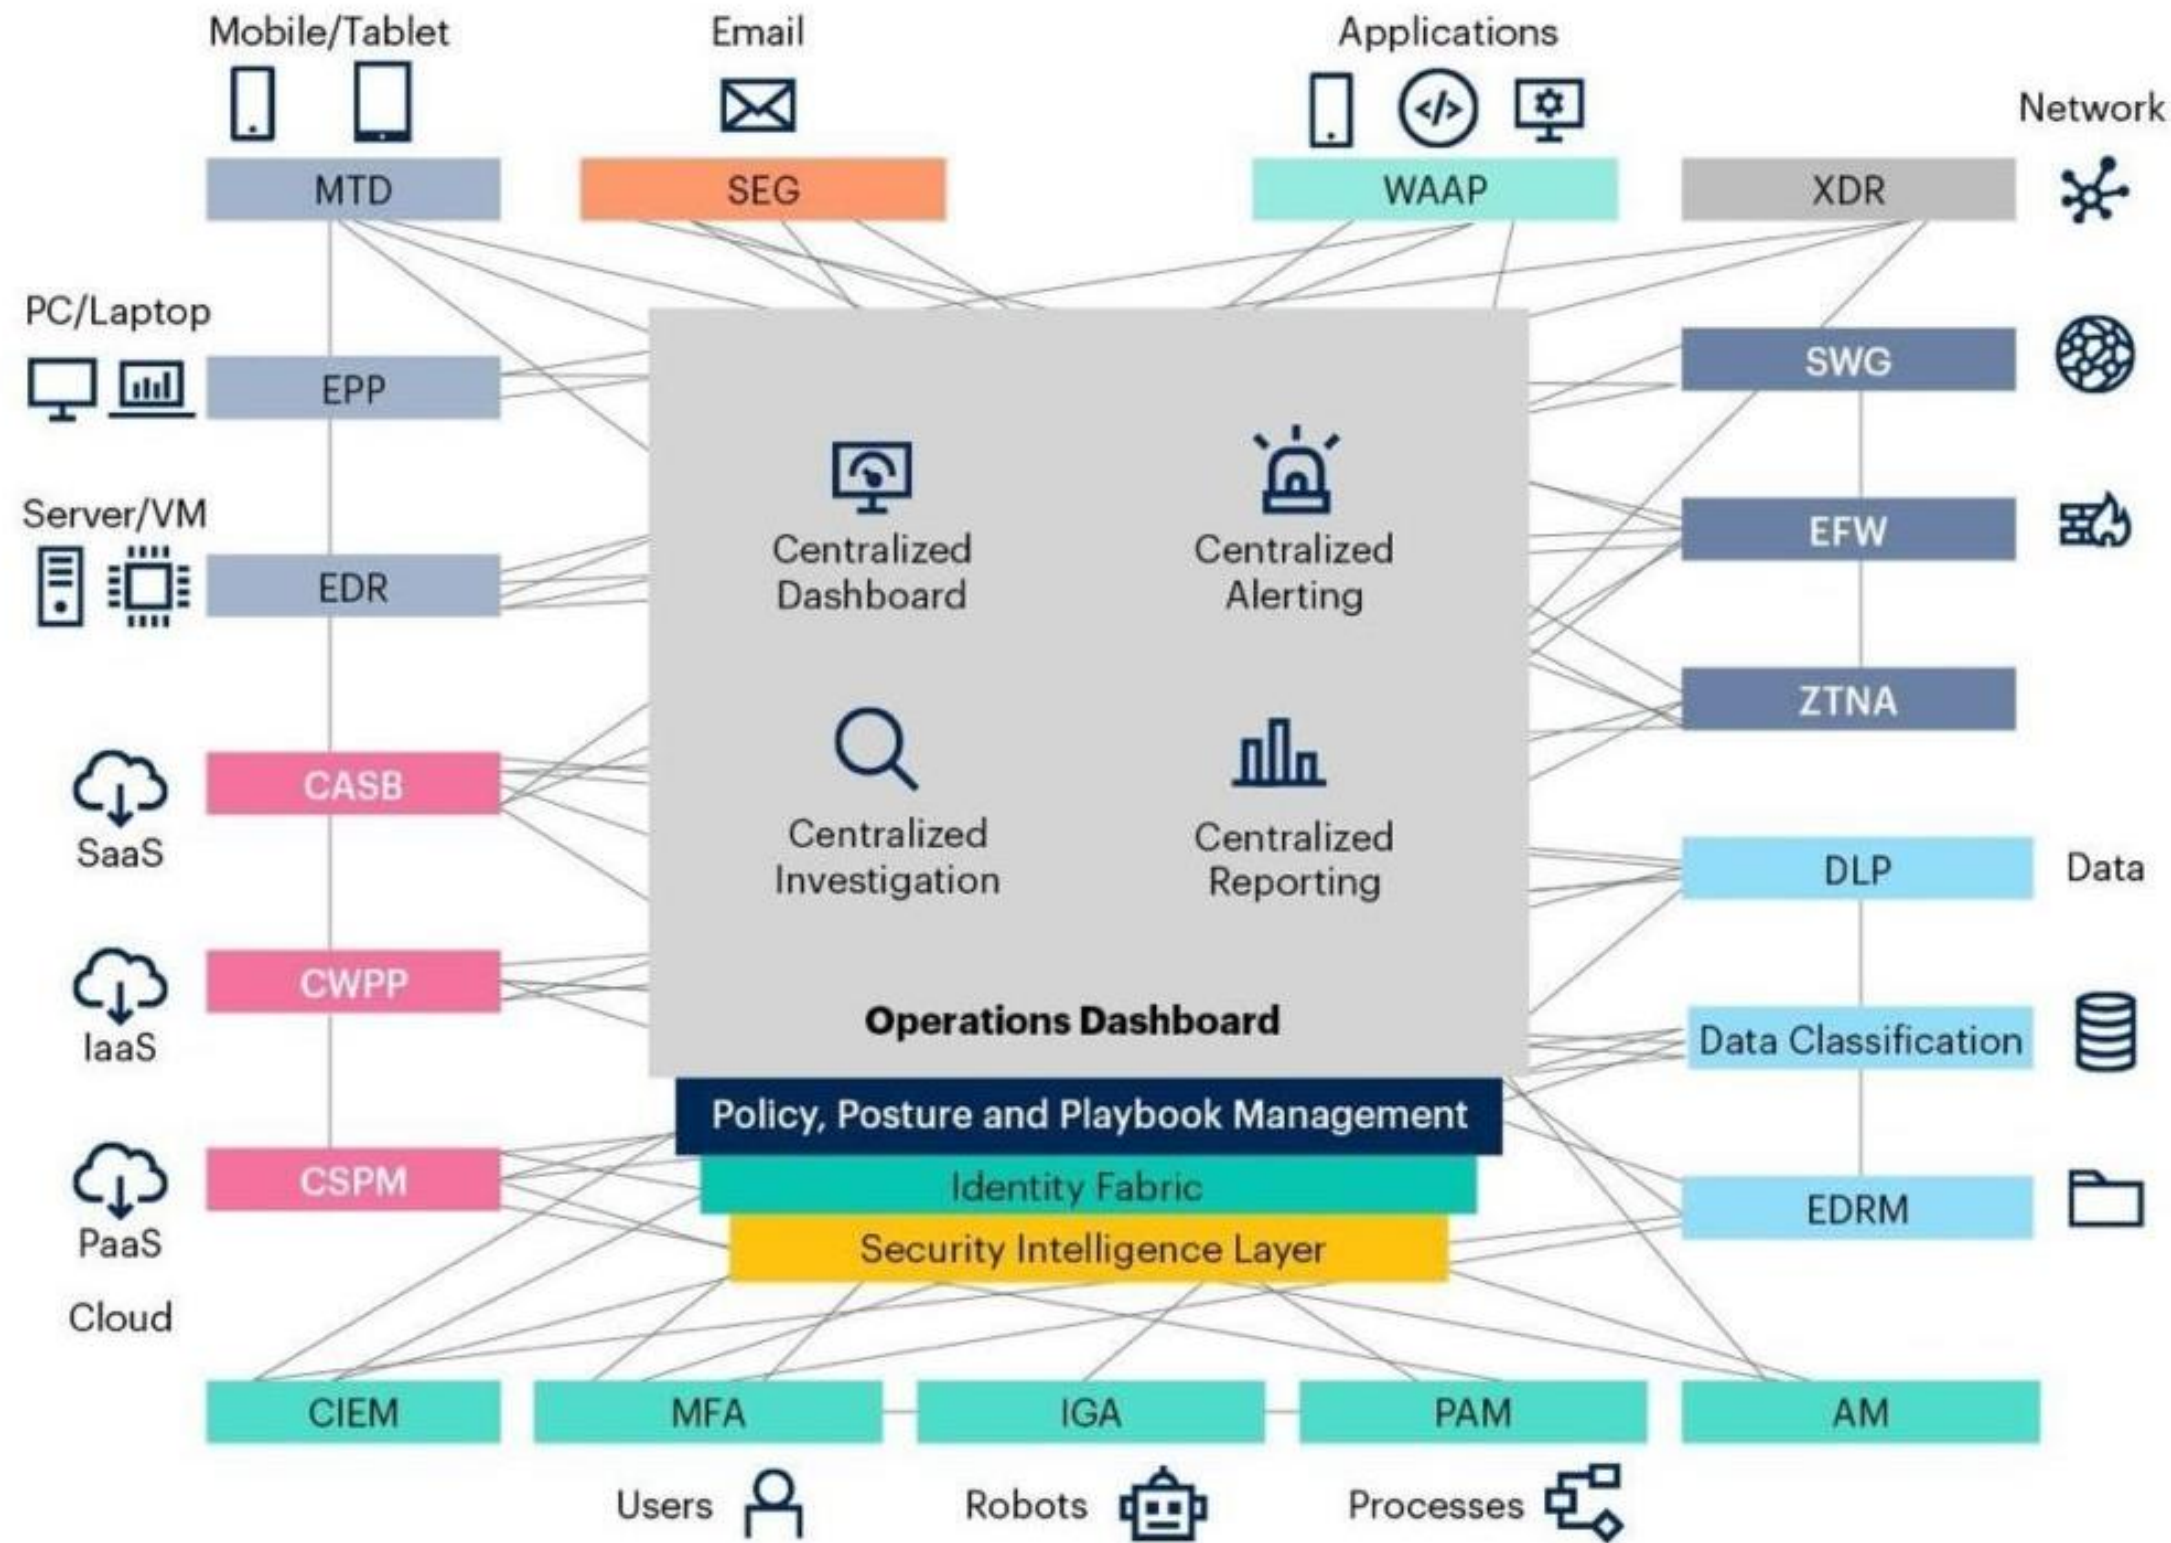

SERVICE BENEFITS

- Deliver substantial cost savings by streamlining enterprise content management.
- Expand access so content can be easily shared and used across the organisation.
- Leverage AI to turn media assets into actionable, searchable information.
- Support collaboration for mobile and distributed teams with secure access anywhere.
- Enable seamless content sharing with internal teams and external partners.
- Maintain full UK GDPR compliance with built-in governance and controls.
- Securely store millions of documents and rich media files at scale.
- Provide a cost-effective, collaborative media platform for enterprise use.
- Meet statutory data-protection obligations through robust consent and security features.
- Efficiently manage, preserve, and retrieve large historical content collections.
