Accessibility comes as standard.

Designing and building accessible digital services is a key feature of our delivery process, aligning fully to the Government Service Standard.

Scope of audit service

Scope of audit service

Initially, we discuss and agree with you the WCAG level of accessibility that we are assessing against – level A, AA, or AAA. The vast majority of websites will be aiming for AA, although generally some AAA points should be considered for good practice. Full AAA is a challenge and full conformance is generally only attempted by a relatively small number of websites.

The accessibility audit looks at your website to assess conformance to each of the WCAG 2.2 guidelines where required for desktop website (and mobile website if required). We undertake a heuristic and qualitative review and also use accessibility and code validation tools to help pinpoint specific errors.

As websites are composed of many pages, it is impossible to test every single page manually. Because of this a representative page sample approach is taken. We generally review all the key pages and randomly select two PDFs – experience has shown that it is not necessary to review all pages, as the same issues tend to be repeated, especially with a large CMS-managed site. We can review an existing live website, or websites that are in various stages of design and development.

The auditor will flag up all accessibility issues that they have discovered on these pages and provide a sample of examples and solutions for each issue. These solutions must be applied across the entire site and not just the specific issues flagged up in the report. As standard we test on the latest version of the following browsers Internet Explorer and Firefox unless otherwise specified, we can also test on Safari on OS X when required.

Deliverables:

Our accessibility testing service will provide you with the advice and guidance needed to support you through the WCAG self-certification process. We can also work with you to understand your plans for future development and expansion to ensure accessibility can be built into your product development lifecycle.

We produce a detailed report which is categorised by the WCAG guidelines. This will include example screenshots of failings where appropriate and explanations of how the failings could affect access needs users. We include recommendations where relevant.

We also produce a comprehensive listing of issues which will detail the problem, the URL, a link to the relevant WCAG guideline and a suggestion of how this could be fixed.

Accessibility audit pricing

How much does an audit cost?

Our accessibility audit costs usually range between 2 and 5 days depending on the complexity of the website and the number of page types that we are testing.

Item:	Cost (ex VAT):
Accessibility audit (3 days)	£2,925
Re-check (1 day)	£975
