ABOUT XMATERIA

Xmaterial helps companies to respond quickly to changing business landscapes and the opportunities presented by new technology.

First and foremost a data company, we provide the expertise and industry-leading data transformation technology to guide companies through the challenges of separating, consolidating, migrating and modernising their SAP systems.

In recent past years there has been a major reordering of board-level priorities, with business resilience and digital transformation rising to the top of agenda. This has led to more divestments and M&A, and a renewed focus on cloud and adoption of S/4HANA. Data sits at the heart of all of these topics as both an opportunity and an obstacle. And that's where you will find Xmaterial: leading the migration of data into and out of ECC and S/4HANA, carving and separating SAP systems, driving improvements in data quality.
