

The Integrated Mobile EPR Built for Community & Mental Health

The 'holy grail' of digital healthcare: Full access, anytime, anywhere, with no duplication

This is the 'Breakthrough Everyone Has Been Waiting For' in the wider UK

For more than two decades, NHS leaders have been asking for the same thing from EPR suppliers: A single, mobile, online/offline EPR that works everywhere, on any device, giving clinicians full access to records and caseloads. And that integrates with existing systems, out of and in office.

That "holy grail" already exists. It's called Morse and is deployed across Scotland.

Morse has already transformed care delivery, returned a huge 4x Return on Investment, and we're here to show how we can help do the same in the rest of the UK.
