app accessibility

When is it right for you?

We recognise that for many people today a smartphone is their primary computing platform and for people with disabilities the in-built assistive technologies are a lifeline. We can ensure that your mobile and tablet apps support the latest accessibility features of Android and iOS/ iPadOS, by conducting a thorough accessibility audit including testing with assistive technologies.

app accessibility

Features and benefits

Ensure your app and/or mobile site is designed with inclusivity in mind. Our in-house experts use third-party assistive technologies, as well as our personal experience of using assistive technology and expertise in accessibility, to support design and development choices that will ensure compliance with the Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG 2.2) and be usable by the widest range of people.

Features

- Functional testing with assistive technologies to improve access for people with various disabilities
- Support of multiple languages through localisation
- Support of native functionality and therefore in-built assistive technology e.g. VoiceOver
- Suitable for Agile and Agile-like development teams
- Fully equipped test lab including cutting edge tech and assistive technology

Benefits

- Support users across the broadest range of devices
- Ensure consistent design and user experience across all supported platforms
- Comply with Public Sector Accessibility Regulations
- Multi-camera recordings of test session ensure key presses and gestures are identified
