

Testing Offsite

On demand testing services from our UK and Global Capability Centres

Edge Testing Solutions Ltd trading as Resillion, provides you with an on demand or scheduled, cost effective cloud testing service from our UK based Regional Technology Centres located in Glasgow and Birmingham and also from our Global Capability Centre in Bengaluru, India.

We work together to provide a testing services model that gives you what you need, when you need it, whether it is a whole project or specific areas such as Web Testing, Regression Testing, Test Automation or Performance Testing. Our ability to rapidly understand the needs of our clients and kick start our service offerings within a few days of initial discussion has already enabled us to build up a strong client base for our offsite service.

Off-site Testing Service

Our Regional and Global Capability Centres are able to fulfil the majority of the test delivery work that can be carried out on-site and deliver the cost saving that only a dedicated test centre can provide. The Offsite Service typically includes the following key test disciplines:

- Early Lifecycle Testing - Review of the requirements and specifications as fit for the purpose of designing the tests specified for the test plan
- Test Preparation - Preparation of the test conditions, required input data, test cases and expected results
- Test Execution - Manual test execution and logging of results
- Test Reporting - Defect reporting, communicating the appropriate information regarding the context and nature of defects and tracking through to resolution
- Test Management - Ensuring that quality controls are in place within the testing process to meet with your overall quality management requirements. A dedicated Service Manager will manage the engagement from initiation through to sign off
- Test Automation – Creation, update and maintenance of a test automation suite based on a framework that can then be used by testers in system and user acceptance test to benefit from the benefit of automated test execution
- Performance Testing – Strategy development, Performance Consultancy, Deployment and fine-tuning of Performance Test Tools, full offsite Performance Test Service
- Regression Testing - Confirming that changes have not themselves introduced defects.

Key features of the Regional and Global Technology Centre offerings:

- Pay-as-you-go, low cost, on demand solution
- Quick and easy to setup to have our team begin testing
- Remote connectivity or standard web access
- UK based service which does not make demands on your office space
- Dedicated Service Manager who will be a highly experienced testing professional
- Standalone service or as part of our Managed Testing Service providing an onsite and offsite capability
- Management System certified as complying with ISO9001 and ISO27001 standard

Managed Testing Service

Resillion provides a complete managed testing service and you may choose to work on a standalone offsite basis or as part of a combined onsite, offsite capability. You may wish to engage with us to deliver a smaller piece of work to trial the service and once we have successfully delivered and proven the benefits to you the Regional and Global teams can take on more deliverables as the relationship matures. A dedicated Service Manager provides a single point of contact for the client and provides the planning, reporting and co-ordination activities.

Typical Engagements

We have developed a world-class off-site testing service and some areas you may wish to consider using this for are:

Web/E-Commerce Testing

How do you know that your website works as expected across the browsers, operating systems and devices that your customers are using today? What kind of experience are they getting and how does it compare with others in your space? How does it integrate with the latest social media tools?

Our test centre is equipped to test your website with the latest PCs, MACs, tablets, smartphones plus other handheld devices that your customers will use on a daily basis. It may be that you are launching a new website or e-Commerce application or proving that your existing one still functions as you would expect with new technology. Either way you cannot afford to lose customers due to poor performance or a bad user experience.

Regression Testing

Viewed as a time consuming and manually labour-intensive activity regression testing forms a necessary and vital part of any successful application release. Our team will undertake your regression testing on your behalf enabling your team to focus on the new functionality. Where required our team undertake this service in parallel with your own testing phases to reduce the elapsed time taken to test your application. No matter what frequency your regression cycles have to run to you will not have to worry about finding the best-fit resources to run it, Resillion will undertake this for you. Our dedicated test centre experts will focus on re-using test assets and test resource wherever possible to drastically reduce any unnecessary learning curves or test asset re-creation – no waste – no extra cost.

Test Automation

Using the successful Resillion Test Automation Framework we will work with you to help identify the scope and deliver a solution using best of breed tools to maximise the return on investment. Our highly skilled consultants will not only create but also maintain and execute the automation suite as required by you on demand or at planned frequencies.

Performance Testing

Does your application meet its requirements from a performance as well as functional perspective? Do you even know if or how it will perform? Our approach is to provide a comprehensive performance testing capability to ensure that your systems meet the requirements of your customers or users.

We will advise you on the approach, define the scope and objectives, plan and manage the performance testing, as well as executing the tests and provide you with a clear and detailed summary of the results.
