About Us

OUR HISTORY

Claritas Solutions was founded nearly 30 years ago - during the early stages of the Internet driven dot-com boom – to provide high quality technology solutions to complex business problems.

Based throughout our lifetime in West Yorkshire, we have designed, built, and operated some of the UK's most business and safety critical systems across Policing, Transport and Public Safety for three decades, embracing Cloud technologies to do so in innovative ways whilst in parallel meeting difficult legislative and data classification challenges.

We are proudly UK-based, operating our services wholly from within the United Kingdom, with all our staff undergoing the strictest security vetting and this is a condition of employment, and our operating sites having been certified under List-N and PASF schemes.

Claritas continue to be privately held, with a small and agile management structure leading our organisation of 60 skilled engineers, project managers, architects and specialist consultants.

WHAT WE DO

Many of our existing clients were introduced to Claritas during a period of crisis – let down by their existing supplier, or finding themselves in need of expert assistance, we helped them when others couldn't or came up with solutions for specific problems deemed too hard to fix. Relationships created in such circumstances are often understandably much stronger than normal commercial procurements and lead to long-term trust-based partnerships where we can bring lasting value in technical, governance and solution focussed deliveries.

WHO WE WORK WITH

Claritas work especially hard to build lasting relationships with our customers, many of whom have been with us on our journey for multiple decades, and some of whom require – and indeed have come to rely upon – our discretion to keep their services out of the public eye or may require contractually or legislatively backed non-disclosure of our engagements.

Our disclosable client list is however still broad and impressive:

Introduction

We offer a straightforward, modular and transparent pricing model designed to match buyer requirements and enable teams to deliver effectively. Solutions can combine service components across cloud software and support, allowing you to select the most appropriate mix for your outcomes.

Our enterprise IT services are delivered using secure UK-based private cloud infrastructure and can support everything from simple deployments to complex, multi-user environments with varying risk and operational needs.

Many services are priced using clear usage parameters, with volume discounts available where applicable. As pricing can depend on configuration and consumption, we list the maximum prices for each component and service (exclusive of VAT).

We welcome pricing questions and will provide clarity to help buyers understand options, assumptions and total cost.
